EAST LEYDEN FASHION CLUB STUDENTS MAKE BLANKETS FOR PREMATURE BABIES AND INFANTS

Twenty students who are members of East Leyden's Fashion Club are making fleece blankets for premature babies and infants at Advocate Children's Hospital in Park Ridge. The students have made more than 20 fleece blankets to be delivered to the hospital before Christmas.

The students and fashion club sponsor Dana Thomas bought the material used in making the blankets. "The students are using their fashion skills to give back to the community," says Thomas, who is a district Family and Consumer Sciences Department teacher.
